

---

Subject: "Deezer" Studios

Posted by cheesesoda on Wed, 14 Jul 2004 03:51:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Are we talking about the same company that produced all the great C&C Games (excluding Generals, but you can hardly call it "great")? Westwood created one of the greatest game series, and to some, THE greatest game series ever created. There should be and there is a respect for them. EA maliciously closed WS and now EA is fucking over the memory of WS by pissing on it by letting that "dev" team called Deezer use, nay, steal the WS logos. EA is evil and they just don't give a fuck, and it also shows that Deezer doesn't give a fuck either.

It's not just the fact that they stole the logos, but it's the fucking Ethics of taking property of another. So what, it was "legally" given to them. It's just like a parent taking a toy out of their kid's room and giving it to someone else. "Legally" it's alright, but it's not ethically right.

---