So much for the "ranter". I was really hoping this would be more of a challenge. My kid banging on the piano is really loud too. Doesn't mean she is playing anything worth listening to.

Declaring yourself a title, and claiming a "win" in a forum debate aren't exactly hallmarks of intelligence. Neither is posting idiotic chat logs stating how you feel wronged over intellectual property that you had NO involvement in developing, for a company that no longer exists.

You need a little therapy, and a reality check. Oh, and here's you platter back. It looks like you will need it more than I.
