This is the Allied Light Tank, based off the M60 Patton main battle tank. It is equipped with a 75mm cannon that fires APDS rounds, otherwise known as Armor Piercing, Discarding Sabot shells.

It is incredibly fast over almost all terrain, except climbing steep inclines. It can outmaneuver all Soviet tanks with ease, but it comes with a price - the Light Tank is lightly armored, and has somewhat decent firepower. But what it lacks in armor and firepower, it more than makes up with speed and price... Along with a low profile, making it hard to hit.

It is $700, and is a good companion to the Medium Tank. Use these in platoons with Medium Tanks leading, you will have a strong force. Use them to soak up battle damage while the Medium Tanks shell out damage to Soviet armor.

The model was done by Sir Phoenixx, and the set of two 1024x textures was done by myself.
