Yes, but people dont like being called morons or such.

Quote:"well he only lieks renalart so everyting elaese sux to him omg"

Take this for an example, if he`d told me that with no keyboards, no mics, or without any ways of non-direct contact, face to face, i`d kick his ass like i did with a bum yesterday for talking behind my back.

Freedom of speech is indeed a joy. But its also a way to bypass the problems of reality. Do you realise that since Westwood handed the forums to the community it has been like hell for most members, because of ass-holes talking shit here and there. They are people that have problems in reality and really need to lay it off on other people, knowing they will get away with it.

So what if he did this? He doesnt care because he knows he`ll get away with it.
