mahkraAlso, flyingfox, a lot of people with high IQ's are dumb as fuck. I went to MIT, which is apparently the best technical school in the world, and I was amazed by the sheer number of idiots present. (Granted, the general population is somehow even stupider than that, but they were still pretty damn dumb.) My point though is that even "smart" people are often too stupid to ever do anything worthwhile

Tip for the day, when posting how intelligent you are, try not to violate basic English sentence structure.

And I would have to agree with this last statement in blue. I worked with Nuclear plant workers that couldn't get the button sequence on thier shirt correct. Common sense isn't very common.
