

---

Subject: A*C*K?

Posted by flyingfox on Fri, 23 Jul 2004 12:31:42 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Quote:Ack

A sexual sound produced by penguins when achieving orgasmic crescendo first penguin: ack ack ack!

second penguin: got a light

Quote:Ack

a form of exclamation

"your underwear is showing!" "ack!"

Quote:Ack

In the TCP protocol, the receiving computer sends an ACK (acknowledgment) to the sending computer. This is basically how a connection is established.

Sender sends 3 packets, Receiver receives 3 packets and sends "ACK 4" (meaning it received what was sent, and it's ok to send the next number or packet)

Quote:Ack

Probably the most frequent utterance of Bill the Cat (a character in Berke Breathed's comic strip "Bloom County").

Milo Bloom: "Remember, folks... ask for those "Bill the Cat" flammable pajamas by name. That's B-I-L-L, not G-A-R-F-I-E-L-D.

Bill: ACK! THPTPTH!!

Quote:Ack

a bad ack, the opposite of a good crack. Can be used to describe something that is particularly substandard or to denote boredom and/or disinterest

"Do you like that new Starsailor Track?" - "Nah it's Ack"

or

"Alright mate how's it going?" - "Not too good pal, the manager at work says that tar..." - "ACK!"

^ Seems offensive enough (forget the filter)

---