
Subject: A*C*K?

Posted by mahkra on Fri, 23 Jul 2004 13:16:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

flyingfoxMost of the insults coming from him are just reborn "bashing" or correcting peoples spelling.

Actually, he routinely calls me a stupid fuck (or some other random insult) just because I disagree with him.

flyingfoxIf you do have that much of a problem with him, why not put him on ignore? No offense; but it's quite evident from reading you and Kirby's posts that you absolutely hate his guts, and common sense would tell you not to read his posts at all.

He passes off misinformation as fact quite regularly, and I like to set the record straight. If I put AssCrackFiller on ignore, then who would be around to "correct injustice"? (borrowing a phrase from ACF himself)

Also, I suppose I'm being overly optimistic, but I like to think that even the biggest assheds have the potential to say something useful at least once in their life. So I don't put anyone on ignore.
