I have seem to lost the article but it was about a woman they stopped at a store in military uniform. When she went to her car people cursed at her and started to throw rocks at her. These protesters need to calm down and realize that this violent acts do no one any good. For they known she could have been a civilian in JROTC/ROTC as am I. I now feel diffrent when I walk me dog in my own neighborhood in uniform, but so far people greet me with a big smile and 'hello'
