SEAL Aircraftkiller! It's so funny as to how what you said is able to be turned right around and pinned on you.

My God! That is funny. I say, do you write your own material? A comic genius, that's what you are!

I'm glad you have such a firm grasp on the English language that you are able to turn a sentence around like that. That's skill if I ever saw it.

However, just because you are able to do so (again...kudos to you), does not make my original statement untrue. And my statement is a lot more founded than yours.

Aircraftkiller Keep it up SEAL, arguing with me online will get you far in life! Everyone loves a meddling idiot!

You are one of the LAST people on this forum that should be commenting on the volume of arguing of others.

It's no less humorous than what you wrote, which wasn't funny at all. Try looking up sarcasm, it'll be good for you.

Your original statement has no founding in anything besides "It's your opinion, that's the only thing factual about it."

I'm not commenting on the value of arguing with anyone. I'm calling you a meddler, as in you rarely post unless it has something to do with me. You troll the forum, in other words.

You remind me of the moths that fly around street lamps at night.
