spoonyratvirtually everyone I've ever been in a clan with.

Birds of a feather flock together...

perhaps it's the "It's called skill (insert five page bitchfest about mods/n00bs and profanity)" which is so common among people who are banned an stay banned... but apparently you can't seem to see that people who show up and can actually refrain from being a Grade A asshole are usually unbanned or let back into the server after they explain themselves or agree to do their time...
