AircraftkillerI don't know. They'll come in and speak for themselves if they want to.

I doubt most of the random people from your forums have an account here, and I don't feel like posting over there. For every thread over there, everyone who cruises over feels driven to post on every topic, no matter how meaningless or whether or not they have actual comprehension of what's going on. Every day, like 5 pages gets added to every topic. Too much reading. Besides, I don't need them to come and lie to me about what they think. I've seen what a lot act like in RenAlert.
