phlakatonTo all you idiots who don't want to pay for your games... I think you're sorry losers. What do you think it takes to make these games YOU love so much to play? It takes money. Lots of money. It also takes real people who earn a living for their family. Why don't you go get a stinkin' job and pay for it. Jerks.

I would have to agree, but you know, there are FREE games that you don't have to pay for too, if I download those games directly from the developers' website, does that make me an idiot?

(Oh, and please check your private messages.)
