JavaxcxAircraftkillerMorality has been the cornerstone of civilization, when you start breaking down fundamental barriers to insane actions, it becomes "normal" to do what was once detrimental to an organized society.

Couldn't agree more.

I personally don't drink, smoke or do drugs. I get "high" and "intoxicated" on life and what it offers without my mentality being fucked up.

I like that last part. It's a shame probation was cancelled. but you don't need a law for that do you? So I don't see why ppl have issues that we got softdrugs legal. I don't smoke at all but i don't see the issue why it should be illegal.
