I think plastic units are the most accurate of them all... Look at our cars, who will make our weapons of war for the future during World War 3. Now back in WW2 when Ford transformed its plants to tank construction, steel cars meant steel tanks. When Kia or Scion transform their plants, we're gonna have plastic tanks and vehicles with cold cathode LED's inside and with the nearby explosion of a incoming shell are launched hundreds of feet into the air. This is our future... All our tanks will have big mufflers, a useless drag racing spoiler, and a sticker that says L1ek My 0ther Carzes 2 F@st 4 J00!
