

---

Subject: Terror Alerts

Posted by Fabian on Mon, 16 Aug 2004 18:25:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Depends on the evidence presented to the public as to why the terror alert was raised. When the terror alert is raised several times with only vague mentions of generic threats, people begin to stop taking the terror alert system seriously. If Kerry treats the terror alert system the same way Bush has (in the eyes of the public), then he will get a similar reaction. I can only speak for myself, but that's at least how I think about it.

Oh, and you don't need to be hypothetical about Kerry winning the next election. It's okay...you can say "when".

---