PantherOf course, while i was on the staff you told me to express a "professional" attitude at all times.

Are you above your own little rules?

Yeah, as in "do not publically contradict the team, do not make unfounded statements about RA, and do what you're supposed to do."

You had a very hard time with all of this. It's just one of the many reasons you were removed, since you don't have the level of professionalism needed for the development team I head up.

I keep a professional attitude there. I don't keep it here, because I don't like most of what is made here. Since I never said "don't say anything negative about anyone else or what they make" I am not contradicting myself. Stop grasping at straws, you fucking idiot.

Quote:And how depressing it is that you are so cut off from mainstream society that you don't know any slang or English idioms. You poor soul, you think that "sad" means "melancholy" and didn't realize in meant "pathetic". You must be so pale and white, what with the light of day never touching you. You will be in my prayers.

I don't care about "mainstream society" since most of you are idiots. I know all sorts of slang terms, I just choose not to use most of them online because I'd rather look like I have some sort of intelligence when I type in forums, IRC and IM.

Yeah, I must be pale and white. Gotta be the reflection of the white sand hitting me when I'm out at the beach every weekend, oh wait... That doesn't cause paleness..
