When I started out, I use to snipe as a sakura/havoc and when I got better I switched to a blackhand/deadeye. Now I find it easier to snipe with a deadeye, whenever I switch back to a havoc I have a harder time getting headshots.

The funny thing about sniping with a havoc when the bar/hon is gone is that sometimes there are some players who make it their life's goal to kill you. They may repeatedly come at you with different basic infantry or they may park their arty in front of the tunnel and just pound away at nothing all day...
