Crimson, I was just making a guess from what I've seen last night on mlRC.

Nodbugger I wish you retards would go look up Florida laws.

In the state of Florida anyone who serves jail time is not allowed to vote. The person can get their vote back if they ask for it by a judge. These people were not disenfranchised. They were simply criminals that hadn't gotten their vote back.

Oh, and not even half of the voters barred from voting were black. Most where white. The link to this information is somewhere on CNN, If I find it I will post it.

Nodbugger, you don't know what the hell you are talking about. of course, felons are not allowed to vote, but [i]not[/i>-felons are allowed to vote. Katherine Harris...wait, I won't even bother explaining it to you. Go be an ignorant fool somewhere else.
