AircraftkillerSuper cool like a case of diaherrea after eating in Mexico for a week...

I don't see what me cheating in your Bullshit Chances server has anything to do with my capability to moderate this forum... But then again, it was to piss you BC people off, so I guess that picture helps make the case that my mission was successful. I spend a few hours here every day, know more than most about the engine and its capabilities, and only delete outright garbage. I don't care if you beat yourselves up over the Internet.

I was under the impression that an unbiased moderator was wanted...And I'm affiliated with neither reborn nor renalert. Also, making a known cheater a moderator for a modification forum seems a bit iffy to me...It's like rewarding you for contradicting the "company" you "work" for.

And honestly, come up with something better than "Bullshit Chances"...It doesn't even make sense.
