Hell, I would have been happy if they just released what they showed at E3. This is definately gaming history. I can still remember seeing HL for the first time and thinking "damn, that's realistic", and now here I am some 6 years later looking at HL2 and thinking the exact same thing. Only difference now is that HL looks nowhere near realistic anymore. I can't wait another 6 years to look at HL3 and experience it all over again. It's evolution.
