Good point Blazer. Here is another example: When the cars were first invented, the gas stations were rare and there were no maps for them, so most people used horses instead. It took years before horses were vitrually "gone", and gas stations became as common as Drinking milk everi day.
This means that eventually almost all servers will probably run renguard, but it will take some time.