Sir PhoenixxFreshmen year is by far the hardest out of all 4, Senior year is by far the easiest...

I finished all of my math, science requirements before my senior year and social studies before the second semester of my senior year, so I don't have to do that much anymore.

(btw, I graduate high school in 13 days!)

Damn you, all I needed was 1 credit and attend 1 semester and I could have graduated early....but I decided to take some AP coarses.

Oh yeah for the tips. Dont piss off your bus driver, sit down and shut up in class, work like hell so you can slack off later, get on the good side of every teacher (even the ones you dont like), and.....well.....find a pratical girlfriend that understands grades, and money (By far the hardest part)
