

---

Subject: High School

Posted by Doitle on Sat, 04 Sep 2004 07:03:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

My advice, is to be outrageous. Do things that others might not. If you think a Hawaiian shirt over snowpants is cool, than by golly wear it. If you think of something funny, say it, and if you get the opportunity to turn your teachers desk around, and put their chair back up to it, by golly do it! (only for cool teachers though). I try to do whatever I can think of and it's all that keeps me going. If you go through high school as the generic Carbon Unit humanoid you'll prolly want to kill yourself. Don't wear only one color or not eat certain foods to be different. The point isn't being different, it's doing whatever you feel like. In short, be crazy, but as a stipulation, be legally, sanely, crazy. Don't put yourself in any harm or such, but if your gonna get to class early, and stack all the desks into a giant pyramid. (Works best in a western civilization class) By golly do it! I did and it was pretty fun, lol.

The Doitle is not responsible for any expulsions, suspensions, detentions, or any other ions that may result from the advice given hereupon.

---