A few weeks ago Crimmy said a few weeks. So anytime now in the next few weeks it should come out. It's better that they don't put a release date on things. This way we'll get a program that is ready for release and not just thrown together to make the release date (eg. Windows Me)! Be patient remember all these people VOLUNTEER their time and knowledge for these projects. By the way thanks BHS and all others involved in the building and beta testing of CP1!
