Hey come on... Every one is stereotyped in that game! It's like all the cliché's mashed into one EA-sponsored Cliché-fest. Does everyone think all us Americans talk like cowboys like the rangers? I doubt that in China there are huge towers shouting FIGHT FOR CHINA over and over again. Come on people, it's a game. Russia was depicted as launching a giant strike on the US and screwing over the US Government in RA2, and did the Russians complain? No! Did the US complain? No! Even though we were the ones being mass invaded. Did the US Pull the cable from their modem and cause a mismatch error? () NO! The US fought the Russian invasion and the game was saved. If the Chinese don't like how they're depicted, play as the US or the GLA. I rarely play as the US so I don't think your nationality has any bearing on what side you play.
