spreegemHe WAS a friend of mine untill this little incident, I may unblock him in a couple months, or after I get my drivers license. . . Yeah, I guess I am a newb to Linux, I haven't been using it long and I can only do enough command line stuff to make new MySQL databases, and start a few things for my webserver (for when power goes out) I am running SUSE 9.1 Professional, I love it, but the print screen key didn't work, I also shut down my computer overnight so I can't screen shot it now Linux runs so much faster than Windows, I pretty much always use it.

WOOHOO, 1 week again. ehm ok.

I actually want to install Mandrake 10, but I am afraid, my pc will start making trouble. It was hard actually getting Red Hat installed. I my Linux box, basicly for FTP and SSH. I'm to lazy to make a real website, but apache is installed. I might install an email server on it.
