Not a problem! I'm always happy to pass along this great Shell. Just so you know, it does come with a 30-day trial... Registration for the Shell is $28, which is more than a bargain and worth it. After registration there will be no nag screens, free updates (up to v2, that will be a separate program that would need to be registered/purchased again), and full tech support and email notifications when updates are available. There is also a dedicated community over there at the site's forum where they produce great themes and plug-ins.
