SuperFlyingEngiGeneral Schizgelblizzy or whatever his name was, who Kerry said got removed from his post before he wanted to be? Well, that one turns out to actually be true. There's no better person to talk to on this matter than the General himself, who says that he was prematurely forced from his post.

The only one who was retired early was Clark. Shinseki(SP) had his retirement papers in hand. That jack ass made the Army wear berets. That is gay as hell and many people hate him for that.

And he also said something about the Air Force General during the Gulf War who led the air campaign. He did no thing. He was on the Joint Chiefs of staff and had nothing to do with the air campaign.
