
Subject: New Presidential Debate Thread.

Posted by Crimson on Sat, 09 Oct 2004 23:33:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

OK, Bush won. Why? Because when Kerry spoke, I had to keep checking to make sure I hadn't started watching last week's debate by mistake. I didn't hear much different from him than what he said last week... at least in regards to foreign policy.

Even after Bush, Cheney, and several news sites corrected the fact that the costs in Iraq are $120 billion, he still continues to stick with his $200b figure.

I wish Bush would have hit more on the contents of the Duelfer report, but I know he wouldn't really want to hit the UN's corruption too hard when his staffers are probably still digesting the massive report.
