So does this mean I can take the wheels off of vehicles with heavy weapons? How did we not know this was possible? I bet the team spent weeks tuning this.

This has to go into renegade alert. I want to blow a mammoth tanks tracks off with artillery. But don't let the tanks/vehicles move if this happens. Such a heavy blast would mean it would be messed up pretty badly. Brings a whole new element to the game. Aiming rockets and shells onto the tracks. And it might mean tanks will HAVE to hull down alot more often then before to avoid being torn apart. And maybe add a whole lot of smoke and fire when this happens. Wouldn't you love to see the enemy tank erupt in smoke and flames while floundering in place and desperately trying to train the barrel on you while you take a few more shots to finish of the tank.
