OMG that site is still online. That was one of the first Redalert sites i visited back in 1995 when I had AOL on my 28.8 K modem. It had stuff for editing the rules.ini and other great stuff. I was also a redalert modder but I mainly made maps and mods using rules.ini and things.

RA Mixer only produces small images like the one at the top of the original post. I am making high resolution versions of the maps so we can see the detail and how they look in game.
