By producing a welfare state they are:

Toolstyle helping the citizens of their countries, making life better for the "people" means a happier and more productive country, a more productive country makes more money, a country with the aim of making more money is Capitalist therefore Europe is Capitalist

Making money is the point of Capitalism, so if people are working better and more efficiently, because they are looked after better by "the state", that means they are helping their Capitalist state.
