What's funny is that I'm not a part of the EoE clan, but yet I still get it. Maybe it's just that your thinking is sub-par.

Their system of setting up clan matches is via their web page. That's how they operate. Many of their members frequent the EoE forums more often than these, so it makes for a prime location to set up a match. I'm also guessing that the EoE clan members have lives, so they aren't all on at the same time. Imagine that, somebody not on Renegade 24/7.
