If you want a flame war to stop, the easiest way to do so is to NOT make threads on a forum saying that most of RenAlert's fans hate them for recognizing a great opportunity to expand to a better engine.

You should consider doing the same, if you know what's good for you. the Source engine offers things that the W3D engine just doesn't have. Plus many more people have HL2 than Renegade, and even more people can tell you how much your mod sucks.. er, I mean, play your mod.

until then...

Reborn sucks.

...and probably still will in the future, no matter what you do.
