
Subject: I thought I had a bladder infection. . .
Posted by spreegem on Sat, 04 Dec 2004 00:19:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Glyde, there is with the chance of someone getting a urinary tract infection. . . Someone not circumsize is a little more likely to get a urinary tract infection than someone who isn't. It's still rare in either case though. Read the below site. . . I'll find more about it later if you want.
<http://www.noharrrm.org/AAP1989.htm>

It's gonna suck since I'll probably have to get circumsize. . . I'm almost 16. I have my two tests Friday the 10th of December (Not sure If I mentioned it in my above post or not)

It's gonna be odd if someone asks me why I was absent from school . . . Especially if I have to get circumsize and someone asks me. I can see how the conversation is gonna go.

One of my friends: So, Spree why were you absent? (Yes, my friends do call me by my online name)

Me: I had to get circumsize.

One of my friends: What?!

Me: I had to get circumsize.

One of my friends: WTF! you weren't circumsize. Your joking right?

Me: No

One of my friends: WTF!
