If you are prepared to call clearscope a cheat then you should be prepared to call ANY other sniper scope a cheat. Including the one in this thread because technically you can see more than the original scope. And its only does instant kills if you have the skill enough to shoot someone in the head. And if you still call this cheating then how about the people who use bright green or bright orange 500 sniper skins. People with those skins obviously have an advantage over people with regulare 500 sniper skins. The fact is that you cant call stuff like this on an easily customizable game such as renegade cheating.
