
Subject: Renegade Alert: Source general design
Posted by DaveGMM on Wed, 08 Dec 2004 00:28:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

AircraftkillerHate mongering in my view is trying to get people to hate an individual. There's a big difference between hating someone and hating something, Reborn falls under the thing category. I don't preach hate for you, don't do it to me. Hate towards people is wrong.

First off, we don't need to try to get people to loathe you.

Second, cut the Reborn Sucks crap already. No-one is denying that Reborn, compared to Ren Alert, pales comparatively. No-one has ever objected to that.

What people object to is the "point" "Reborn Sucks" being driven into their skulls with a mallet and chisell. I'm not talking about one of those half-moon chisells people use for crazy paving, we're talking about the long, sharp and thin kind you hit with a fucking sledgehammer.

Reborn sucks was funny at first. The pillarying (sp) of the Reborn team was humorous at best. Now, it's a monotone akin to "I'm Rick James, bitch"; something that has been repeated ad nauseum (just like this argument).

This Reborn sucks thing can also be taken as hate mongering, ne? I don't see, personally, how you of all people can argue a point about hate mongering against something or someone being different. You've mongered hate towards Reborn so much that people have started to think that the people behind Reborn have sprouted 3 heads, are "assrammers" and are plotting to assassinate the President or something.

So, since you're preaching hate to people, can't we do the same to you now?
