ApocXSi dont see in anyway how being in the beta would make you "elite". so you were in the beta big deal... doesnt mean you are actually elite at the game... and so to be an oldbie you had to play the game in beta? seems like a stupid thing to me... an oldbie could just be someone who had gotten the game as soon as it was available to the public... but thats just my opinoin...

and ADM ill try to make it if you get a time and date put out... and ill see if i can get ahold of cpt if you want him to play?

Please get hold of Cpt. I don't really mind how the games go, I suppose we could have a special beta tester reunion or something along those lines. Aswell as an oldbie sniper reunion.

I consider a oldbie sniper someone with a well known name and reputation aswell as experience behind them. They don't have to be a beta tester to be an oldbie sniper - as sniping didn't really take off during beta.

And for dates, well I was hoping for between 22nd December and 28th December or something like that.

We could have quite a few organised games, and I also need some offers for a host. 16+ player hosting will be need I think.
