I would also like to point out, that as an insult, it does not need to be in the scientifically correct context, (although that is what I'm arguing, Raven may not actually be an invalid.)

It's like if I call someone a "Pile of shit". They aren't necessarily a "pile of shit", but it is an insult, so the context is built into the sentence, just like how when I call Raven an invalid. He may not be an invalid, per se, but he is an idiot. Which is correct, just rephrased in a slang term which is offensive.
