I guess the last paragraph was intentionally left out of the original post.. The one where it says the "selected" commando can level a building?

So yea, sure... take away their 10 points per shot on armor, and load them up with enough C4 to take out a building alone..

You know.. cause it's really important that we make the game EXACTLY like the '95 version if we want it to be fun at all... Speaking of that, when are you going to allow me to create 100 infantry in Renegade and group them for an attack?
