I know and understand the great reasons for running renguard, but unfortunatley, a lot of players don't use it, and others still are having connection problems with the renguard server and lot of players are getting killed during this darn pamsg that tells them to get renguard. And not the one when they join, the one that pops up whenever it feels like, myself included after my connection to renguard was broken ( but not to my game). Does anyone know how to disable this message or can it be removed from the next release of Brenbot, because it only makes people mad, and I thought the idea of renguard was to help stop cheating not to change the gameplay to; advantage->RG user vs disadvantage->non RG user (whether it is their choice or not) . Thanx to anyone who can help.
