

---

Subject: [CS] [RG]

Posted by sterps on Sun, 19 Dec 2004 10:47:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Clouds result from convection, when warmer air rises into cooler air, condensation occurs. A cloud will continue to grow until the pocket of warmer rising air cools to temperature of the surrounding air. Clouds size will grow depending on instability, lift and moisture present.

---