

---

Subject: Havoc\Sakura on Ramjet Rifles - Final Word
Posted by PiMuRho on Tue, 21 Dec 2004 12:50:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Quote:Correction, a stupid game development company. Westwood Studios was only good before it developed Tiberian Sun and got new employees. At the point that TS was released, everyone knew it didn't live up to the hype. Neither did Firestorm, RA2, Pirates: The Legend of Black Kat, Earth & Beyond, and Renegade.

This is what happens when you have incompetent management who doesn't see the value in supporting games. C&C95 and Red Alert got lots of support. Red Alert had two expansion packs and even made it to the 3.03 state... No other WS game has gone above version 3.0 that I know of.

All of that can be summed up thusly:

"Westwood Studios was only good before EA took over"

It was EA that imposed the deadlines that caused the games to be released before they were fully ready. It was EA that mandated how long the games were to be supported for. It was EA that sanitised the games so that they weren't as good as they were supposed to have been.

---