I've made a movie, saved as an AVI file.

However, whenever i open the AVI file with Windows Media Player, QuickTime, Real Player etc, the video and the sound are out of time, (being the video too slow).

However, when i use a program that has it's own convenient AVI player, it works fine. So i decided to use a screen recorder, but my comp is too slow!

So i split the AVI file into audio and video, so i've got a soundless AVI file, and the sound in a WAV file.

I'm wondering if anyone, has got/seen a program that merges these two together; remember, i can convert WAV to MP3, and AVI etc...
