DJMslayer! I'm not a drummer (I wish I was )

Take some lessons if you want to drum. I don't think it's that hard.

As long as you have half decent co-ordination you can do pretty decent beats.

And co-ordination improves as you go along too. I could never do some of the things I do now if I hadn't taken lessons.

As the saying goes "practice makes perfect".

Well I play bass guitar for 3 years now. The point is that drums take too much space, which I don't have. So 3 years ago I started to play bass guitar. So, I stick with bass now
