I find the British Tabloid Press amusing at best, godawful at worst. This is a case of godawful.

An editor of another downmarket rag, let's call it the Daily Express, did worse than wear an armband. He shouted at his German financiers that they were "all fucking nazis" and that they should "go back to the mothercountry and go kill some more Jews". He then did an apparently loving version of Deutschland Uber Alles while doing the John Cleese Fawlty Towers walk around the office.

But I guess you won't have heard about that, knowing the Tabloid press :rolleyes:

Harry has done nothing wrong there, it's just The Sun and its ever increasing need to get more people to read it.
