I don't play drums too much (my set isn't very good), but I play guitar more.

Thats a nice set you got there. Nice cymbals too. I prefer the ZBT though... Titanium ones are a bit too heavy for me. You really need to smash them to get something other than a ting sound. Or maybe you have the thinner ones?

Anyway for tabbing you can use Guitar Pro or Power Tab. Just google them.

Power Tab is free, but they are both about as good as each other. You can tab songs, play them back at any tempo speed etc. Theres a lot more features too.

They both support both standard notation and tablature. These work better for guitar, but it doesn't really matter. Just change the instrument when you are tabbing and it will sound right.
