
Subject: Funniest political story I've ever heard.
Posted by msgtpain on Sun, 23 Jan 2005 01:00:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Why is it a "funny" story, and how exactly does it "speak for itself"?

I'm guessing that if YOU did something in Country A, which was not deemed "illegal" in said country, but found out that Country B was considering prosecuting you for said offense, you wouldn't get on a plane and go there either.. You're right, it DOES speak for itself. It says to me, Rumsfeld would be a retard (you like that word, I know) if he visited a country where he 'could' be arrested under their law.
