IceSword7My schools the same way.

We have this really bitchy ass librarian who only lets us use the computers for school work. I use to sneak on to this site and others while she wasnt looking but she smartened up and started checking the url box on internet explorer and she ended up blocking the renforums.

I know a bunch of people from my school that play renegade and post on CW but about a year ago when i got banned from CW i would go to school and post untill the admin banned the school ip now no one can post on clanwars from any of the school computers...

Solution : Google

It may work if she isn't very smart
