You should think serieous about these things if you want to join the army.
I did that too before I dicided to go to the army, (not the american army!!!! I'm dutch). I went to military testings one year ago, I didn't make it for the function I wanted to do. I was 16 at that time, and if I past the test. I had to wait untill the day I became 17 (I needed to be 17). I can do the tests again in about a month or so . I've been doing hell allot training. long distance running, weightraining, etc etc. 6 days a week. 1 day for resting and body "healing". I stopped computering because I dont have much time for it.
